AFFAIRS IN BROOKLYN WELLING THE LONG ROLL.

LITTLE MOSES MOSKOVITCH, THE LAST VICTIM OF THE TROLLEY.

ME WAS KILLED BY A UNION-AVE. CAR YESTER-DAY WHILE ON HIS WAY HOME

Moses Moskevitch, seven years old, of No. 91 Taroop-ave., Brooklyn, was instantly killed yesterday afternoon while returning to his home from school by trolley-car No. 2,912 of the Union-ave. line, at Throop-ave. and Middleton-st., a short distance rom the boy's home, and in the presence of many Little Moses attended Public School No. 33, ir Hayward-st., and as soon as the school was dis-missed started for his home. When he reached Throop-ave, and Middleton-st. he stopped to let a ey-car, going toward Greenpoint, pass before attempting to cross the street. The little fellow then stepped off the curbstone between two trucks. bound for Ridgewood. The danger of the child being killed had been seen by several people, who shouted for him to look out, but the cry of warning came too late. He had reached the track and the car was upon him. The fender of the car was one of the old ones, known as the gridiron, extending straight out from the car, and as it struck him he fell upon it and was carried thirty feet before he rolled off and the car passed over his body, crushing out his life.

Policeman Schlunsen, of the Sixteenth Percinct, at once arrested the motorman, John Burkhart, and the conductor, Theodore Hall. A call was then sent to the Eastern District Hospital, and when Surgeon Mahr arrived he examined the body and found that nearly every bone in the child's body had been man't every bone in the child's body had been broken. The body was taken to the station-house and laid in the yard beside the cells.

Burkhart declared that the accident could not have been avoided, as he did not see the child until it was too late. He then did everything he could to stop the car, but his efforts were fruitless. Several of the witnesses of the tragedy also exonerated Burkhart from all blame and say he did all he could to stop the car.

The body of the boy was removed later to an undertaking establishment, at No. 183 Montrose-ave. It was not until 8 o'clock last night that it was identified by the father.

The Moskovitches occupy three poorly furnished rooms on the second floor of the tenement-house at the Throop-ave address. They are Pollsh lews, the father being a journeyman tailor. Little Moses was the eldest of three children, the other two being girls, two and four years old. It is feared that the boy's mother will lose her reason. The killing of the child makes the laist victim of the trolley. The body will be removed to the home of the parents to-day.

CANVASSING BROOKLYN'S FOTE.

SLIGHT GAINS SHOWN FOR WURSTER-ILLEGAL AND VOID BALLOTS IN PLENTY.

The Board of Supervisors of Kings County met yesterday morning in the County Clerk's office as a board to begin the canvass of the State and county vote. It was found that many of the district returns were imperfect, and the entire returns of the The Supervisors discovered many defective ballots and they got in a tangled discussion as to whether a defective marking for Palmer, for instance, would invalidate a vote on the same ballot for another candidate, say Aspinall. The Board is like a house divided against itself on this point, and, as it deares legal aid, the matter will be brought up before Judge Cullen in the Supreme Court to-day, Supervisor Norman S. Dike taking the initiative in the proceedings. Judging from the present situation it is safe to say that about three weeks will be spent in canvassing the vote. Each supervisor receives $3 a day for his services, as extra compensation, and each clerk gets & a day.

It is probable that before the final and official return is made nearly all of the county canvassers will have to be summoned before the Board. All sorts of egregious errors have been made. Moreover, it is evident that many men employed as canvarsers were incompetent, and did not understand

The work was yesterday divided into Senate districts, the supervisors from the wards in each district forming the committee to canvass the vote. Each committee had not completed a ward at noon yeserday, and a large number of returns from election districts had been sent back for corrections. In a great many cases defective ballots were not sent in with the canvass of returns. Some were treated as void when they were valid. In some cases erasures on tickets had been made by smearing with a finger, leaving a blur, and making the ballot void.

THE BOYS DRANK BEER.

DISBANDMENT OF A BOYS' BRIGADE AND NAVAL CADET DRUM CORPS AVERTED.

The Boys' Brigade and Naval Cadet Drum and Fife Corps which is attached to the Ainslie Street Presbyterian Church, Brooklyn, is still alive. The majority of the members were about to resign a few days ago when the members of the congregation of the church at a meeting held Tuesday night persuaded them to continue in force. The ages of boys range from nine to nineteen years, and the trouble grew out of the brigade being invited into trouble grew out of the brigade being invited into a saloon not far from the church on election night by one of the successful candidates and drinking by one of the successful candidates and drinking beer. The boys had several political engagements for the companients of the corps, then the saloon the commander of the corps, Henry lvins, saloon the chemander of the corps, Henry lvins, was not with them, and when he heard of their saloon he threatened to dishand the organization if attempts then threatened to resign and were on the members then threatened to resign and were on the members then threatened to resign and were on the members of doing so when the congregation of the church heard of it. The boys promised to abstain from intoxicants in the future.

Gentlemen: At a meeting of the staff association of the county hospital, held this day, the plans of the new hospital structure to be, erected by your honorable body on Crownst, were carefully and critically considered by the members present, and with the exception of few minor changes suggested to the architect, who was present at the meeting, they were unanimously recommended to you for adoption. It was also unanimously resolved to suggest to your hoard the propriety and advisability of erecting four separate pavilions, for the double purpose of isolating such patients the character of whose disease may require it, and for the needed increase of the accommodations of the hospital proper. Trusting that the action of the staff will meet with your unanimous approval, we are, in their behalf, respectfully yours.

DOGS SHOT IN A CEMETERY.

The trustees of the Dutch Reformed Church, in King's Highway, Flatlands, were mystified this week by discovering that newly made graves in the tampered with. In some instances the graves had been dug to a depth of four feet, and in one case, the grave of Fernando Maynor, whose funeral took place three weeks ago, the coffin lid had been laid bare and there were toothmarks on the woodwork. Police Commissioner Worth, of Flatlands, detailed on Tuesday night to guard the cemetery and arrest at 6 o'clock, and for three hours shivered in the cold. Finally their vigilance was rewarded by seeing a pose of isolating such patients the character of whose disease may require it, and for the needed increase of the accommodations of the hospital proper. Trusting that the action of the staff will meet with your unanimous approval, we are, in their behalf, respectfully yours, IOHN A. ARNOLD, President. HENRY C. M'LEAN, M. D., Secretary. soon be erected, as the Supervisors now have power to issue bonds for the full amount required to complete the buildings according to the specifications.

The cost will be about $350,000.

The buildings will be erected on the elevation opposite the Penitentiary, fronting toward Crown-st. The total length will be 418 feet, and each ward will be 140 feet deep and 25 feet wide, interior measurement. Each ward will contain twenty-eight beds. In the rear of the administration building, which will be 96 feet square and three stories high, will be a wing containing a basement, kitchen, laboratory and library, and on the upper floors living apartments for the attendants and nurses. With the beds in the private wards there will be ample accommodation for 286 patients. In each ward there will be a dining-room, and a room for day patients, fronting the south and inclosed in glass.

Opening from the central administration building into the corridors will be two passenger hydraulic elevators, and in addition to these will be two smaller elevators for carrying food, and dust and linen chutes.

In the administration building will be operating, recovery and antiseptic rooms. Spacious quarters for the resident physicians and surgeous, and private be 140 feet deep and 25 feet wide, interior measure

DR. ABBOTT'S VIEWS ON THE ERIDGE PLAZA The Rev. Dr. Lyman Abbott has addressed the following letter to Mayor Schleren concerning the Bridge plaza:

My Dear Mr. Schieren: I see by the papers that the question of surrendering the plaza to the troiley lines comes up again next Monday. I want, as one citizen interested in Brooklyn, and especially in the Heights, to enter a protest against this surrender. The entrance to the Bridge should be so arranged as to secure a good approach, not only for distant residents, but alse for pedestrians and carriages. If the plaza is surrendered to the troiley lines the interests both of pedestrians and carriages. If the plaza is surrendered to the troiley lines the interests both of pedestrians and carriages. If an assured by entirely competent engineering authority that it is practicable to make such excavations under the Bridge by that method. This would save the streets clear for their legitimate travel. Eventually a subway will be necessary for the troiley lines from the Bridge as far as Flatoushave, such as is now being constructed in Boston, and to such a subway this plan would lend itself. In any event, the city ought to preserve one entrance for foot and carriage passengers. The Bridge ought not to be reduced to a mere rairroad bridge. In this I believe I represent the sentiments of a large constituency, whose rights and interests ought not to be disregarded. Yours respectfully.

Anderson, at No. 356 Clin ton-st., Brooklyn, yesterday morning. Death resulted from the inhaling of gas from a gas stove, but it is not known with certainty that Levis ended his life intentionally. No motive for suicide can be discovered. The young man received a good salary, and was the sole support of a widowed mother, whose home is in Halifax, N. S. A package of letters from his mother failed to reveal any troubles which would lead him to suicide.

Dr. J. J. Prendergrast, of No. 343 Clinton-st., who was summoned immediately after the body was found, said that Levis had been dead about three hours. His theory was that the dead man arose when only partially awake, and turned on the gas, but forgot to light it.

Levis was innity-five years old and unmarried. His body, which was cared for by the Cabie company, will be torwarded to Halifax.

MR. ELLSWORTH RECOMMENDED FOR SENATE LEADER-THE EXCISE AND BALLOT QUES-TIONS - SOME SENATE COMMITTEES

TO BE ENLARGED, OTHERS TO

[FROM THE REGULAR CORRESPONDENT OF THE TRIBUNE.] Albany, Nov. 12.—Lieutenant-Governor Saxton and ex-Senator J. Sloat Fassett were among the Governor's callers to-day. Mr. Morton is beginning to sketch out his annual message to the Legislature, and is seeking to learn the views of prominent Republicars on debatable questions. Mr. Passett, speaking about the new Legislature, said: "Without in any way disparaging the other Republican Senators-elect, it appears to me that the choice of Timothy E. Ellaworth, of Lockport, for president pro tem, of the Senate, would be received with the most satisfaction by the public and would conduce to the best legislation. I served in the Senate two years with Senator Elisworth and I considered him the ablest man in the entire body."

With regard to the excise question, Mr. Fassett said: "In my opinion the Legislature should do nothing, although no harm would be done, and probably much good, by abolishing the boards of excise, which are instruments of blackmail in many instances, and permitting any one to sell liquor who pays a State tax."

Lieutenant-Governor Saxton, commenting on the who pays a State tax."

Lieutenant-Governor Saxton, commenting on the repeated placing of the Democratic State ticket on the blanket ballot, said: "We shall have to take some steps in the Legislature toward preventing the repetition of a State ticket on a blanket ballot. The Democrats managed to get their State ticket on the ballot three times, and in Queens County four times. I consider Judge Cullen's decision bad law and I believe the Court of Appeals would so decide if the case should ever reach it."

When asked what remedy he could suggest, Mr. Saxion replied: "Well, we could adopt the Massachusetts ballot, and, in my judgment, that is the best ballot, in that case, a man's name would be printed only once."

Mr. Saxton then gave some interesting particulars of the plans of the Republican Senators with regard to the Senate committees.

"The suggestion has been made and generally approved," said he, "that the number of the Senate committees be reduced. We have now a dozen nominal committees which never meet. Who, for instance, cares anything about the Committees hall to enlarge the three leading committees—the Finance Committee the Judiciary Committee and the Committee on Rules. We propose that every one of the fifty Senators shall be a member of at least one of these three committees.

When asked whether Coggeshall would be classed as a Republican, Mr. Saxton answered: "He will Committee, the Judiciary mittee on Rules. We propose that every one of the fifty Senators shall be a member of at least one of these three committees."

When asked whether Coggeshall would be classed as a Republican Mr. Saxton answered: "He will not. He will be classed as a Democrat. The Democratic party put him on its ticket, and therefore should be responsible for his acts. It would be unjust to put him down as a Republican, in the face of the fact that he has just defeated a regularly nominated Republican candidate for Senator."

STATE POLITICAL NOTES

The defeat of Thomas A. Pagett, the Republican candidate for Assemblyman in Chemung County, is charged to the Platt people. Pagett was a friend of Fassett. His opponent was John B. Stanchfield Governor Hill's law partner and leader of the Dem ocratic party in the Assembly. Chemung County was carried by the Republican State ticket, but was carried by the Republican State ticket, but Pagett ran behind 1,000 votes, and lost the election by 740. Doubtless there is something in this charge, but, on the other hand, it cannot be denied that Stanchfield is an exceptionally strong man under any circumstances, and the fact was never more forcibly demonstrated than in this instance, where he has triumphed even in a Republican landslide. Mr. Fassett's paper. "The Elmira Advertiser," discusses the charges against the Platt crowd, but remarks that it has "no accusations to make," except to say that if Fagett's defeat was due to the Platt kinffe, "it is a mighty poor way to maintain party regularity or to further party success, or to bring about party unity or party reform."

In a spirit of prophecy, "The Utica Journal" declares that Thomas C. Platt "will soon call off 'Charley' Hackett from further antigonizing Senator Coggeshall, if he has not done so already." It is not "Charley," but "Coggy," that needs "cading off" just now.

That National issues entered largely into this campaign in this and all the other States is un-deniable. "The Democratic party," says "The Niagara Falls Gazette," "hoped that National distrist and displeasure with its tariff policy had passed away, but it was sorely disappointed. An irrealst-ife and deep-seated hostility to its policy is dis-cosed by the extraordinary vote cast-larger in some States than was ever cast in Presidential elec-tions."

The importance of the coming Republican pr maries is dwelt upon by "The Buffalo Express," which says: "As a result of the great Republican victories of 1893, 1894 and 1895, it may safely be said primaries. Republican success is a foregone clusion, unless in the mean time some stupendor clusion, unless in the mean time some stuponilous party blunder should be made, and that is hardly conceivable. The choice of a President will be made at our National convention, and the convention will or should be dictated to by the party primaries. For this roason 'The Express' hopes that the Republican voters will be active in the next six months ir indicating their favorities, and that when they elect delegates they will also give positive instructions. We want a Presidential candidate chosen not as a result of combinations of the leaders, not through piedges of patronage; we want no second choice or dark horse, but a man who represents the will of a majority of the Republican voters."

It is the opinion of "The Albany State" that Tammany's partial victory in this city may not prove an evil unmixed with good, "since it will place the Tammany method of administration on exhibition in sharp contrast with Reform methods."

"It is a mistake" says "The Rome Sentinel, "to assume that the people approve of the idea of putting laws on our statute books with the notion that they are to become dead letters. The laws should be enforced, whatever they may be."

"The Syracuse Herald" has made the discovery that Mr. Stewart, who has just been elected Senator from Fassett's district, can no longer be classed as a leutenant of Piatt. It is a curious fact that the most active and aggressive inde-pendent Republicans in the State at the present time are ex-friends of the Boss.

"The actual experience of Democratic rule and of its disastrous consequences," says "The Yonkers Statesman," "has burned into the public mind Statesman." "has burned into the public mind a bitter repentance and an invincible resolve for its utter condemnation and complete overthrow. This is the first time that Democratic government has been fully tried since the evil days of James Buchanan. The present generation did not know what it was. The peopie were binded and delubed into the hazardous experiment, and the amazing display of fatious incapacity and reckless destruction has rudely awakened and cured them of their costly delusion as long as memory shall last."

Already the Democrats are trying to get rid of loggeshall. "He is an ingrained Republican," says "The Utica Observer," "and the sooner he settles down to his old haunts and acquits the Democrats of responsibility for him the better."

How easy it is to get along without a boss is pointed out by "The Post" of Washington County, which, it will be remembered, deposed "Ike" Baker from leadership last summer. "A year ago," says "The Post," "certain Republicans asked us how we could supply the place of Baker as a leader, and when the new County Committee was organized these same men laughed at the innocence and inexperience of its members. Where is the laugh now? The Republicans of Washington County were never marshalled in a more masterly and honorable manner, and for executive ability, sound judgment and honest diligence the Republican County Com-

The friends of Mr. Miller continue to rub it in "At the Saratora Convention," says "The Utica Press," "Warner Miller introduced the excise and Sunday plank and secured its adoption. That was no sooner done than Mr. Platt and some of his fleutenants became very much frightened, and imagined that all sorts of misfortune would overtake them, and that they saw defeat stalking out of every and that they saw defeat stalking out of ey saloon, distillers and brewery. They wanted better-element vote, and wanted it badly, and we even more anxious not to do anything to induct the liquor interest. Accordingly, they straights commenced to hedge and went about telling peathat the Warner Miller plank was only a vasiof an enthusiast and not the carefully consider and generally adopted principle of Republicanism.

Senator Hill's impressive silence since election leads "The Ballston Journal" to remark: "His 're-server," "and knows no other voice but Platt's."

> Apropos of Mr. Lauterbach's loquaciousness since e ection, "The Rochester Democrat and Chronicle" "Veteran politicians, especially on the defeated side in the several contests, local and National, determined by the late election, are not saying much at present about the cause of their dis-But the apprentices and the amateurs are telling us all about it. Their theories are beau tiful in a general view, but many of them will not stand the process of inspection."

Although a Democrat has been elected Mayor of Rochester, the Republican papers of that city decare it to be less significant than might be sup-posed, as the State Government has not been placed in control of the Democratic party.

POINTING THE WAY. Those who have daily use for the Century Dicionary and Cyclopedia, but who have felt they could not afford the rather heavy cash outlay necessary to secure it, can now possess it easily by joining The Tribune Clab, which simply requires ligious liberty issue last year cost him and his party a defeat by 180,000, and his 'personal liberty' issue this year has resulted in a Republican triumph of over 90,000. "The Journa," hopes that he will, after he gets over his surprise and mortification at Tuesday's figures, deliberately formulate another issue for the people to reject and consign to the cavern of 'innocuous desuetude." "The Utica Observer" declares that "The Albany Journal" is the most subservient Platt paper in the State. "It grovels at Platt's feet," says "The Observer which appear daily.
